

An initiative of the Florida Tax Credit Scholarship

October 28, 2011

Commissioner Gerard Robinson
Florida Department of Education, Office of the Commissioner
Turlington Building, Suite 1514
325 West Gaines Street
Tallahassee, FL 32399

Dear Commissioner Robinson:

We are pleased to submit the first-year results of the financial accountability testing for private schools that participate in the Florida Tax Credit Scholarship for low-income students. We view this as a healthy, important process to assure that scholarship money is spent appropriately and think you will see that schools are off to a creditable start. In sum, 129 of the 130 existing schools that fall under the new requirement filed a report on time. Of those, 23 reported material exceptions in their accounting procedures or internal controls.

This new financial oversight requirement is outlined in Florida Statute 1002.395(6)(n), and took effect on July 1, 2010. The statute requires each school receiving more than $250,000 of scholarship funds in a single year to engage an independent Certified Public Accountant (CPA) to determine whether the school had adequate accounting and internal control systems, appropriate processes to deposit and classify funds, and that scholarship funds were spent on education-related expenses. The CPA must complete a set of Agreed-Upon Procedures that are filed with the commissioner and attached to this letter, and submit a full report to the Scholarship Funding Organization (SFO) that provides the majority of the school's scholarship funds. The deadline for that submission is September 15. In turn, the SFO must notify the commissioner of any schools that fail to submit the report and of any schools with material exceptions noted in the reports. That deadline is October 30.

In 2010-11, a total of 1,114 private schools throughout the state served low-income scholarship students and received Tax Credit Scholarship funds. Of those, Step Up For Students identified 132 that received more than $250,000. We notified these schools through mail, email and phone calls of their obligations under the new law. We also conducted webinars to explain the requirements of the law and the components of the Agreed-Upon Procedures. We ended up receiving 129 reports. Three schools did not submit reports. One of them – Daytona Beach Christian School (2475) – continues to enroll scholarship students. Two others – Ebenezer Christian Academy (1877) and New Frontier Academy (3080) – are no longer participating in the program.

Of the 129 submitted reports, 23 contained material exceptions that ranged from the school recording scholarship funds in the same general ledger account as other tuition receipts to the absence of supporting documentation for expenses. We are attaching all 23 reports to allow your agency to review them closely. We also attach three different lists for your reference: the 3 schools that did not submit a report, the 23 schools with reports that contained material exceptions, and the 89 schools with reports that contained no material exceptions. Finally, we also identified 17 schools that submitted reports that were incomplete. These schools are being given until Jan. 13 to complete the shortcomings. By Feb. 1, we will notify you whether any of these schools have reports that contain material exceptions.

We thank the department for its help in navigating this first year of financial accountability reporting and for helping us place these findings in context with similar reports from public schools and school districts. We also thank you for your support of this learning option for some of the poorest students in our state.

Sincerely,
