Reaching Out To Your House of Worship

If associated with a church, temple, etc. be sure to include information and highlights about your school in the newsletter/bulletin.

If not associated with a place of worship, reach out to neighboring worship centers to drive awareness/build relationships.

Communicate with your diocese or accreditation agency; be sure to let the organization know that your school is interested in recruiting more students.

Work with your worship center’s youth group.

Reach out to a local soup kitchen or food pantry to provide information about your school and scholarship opportunities in the bags or on the trays.

Communicate with your religious leaders to see if they come in contact with families who can benefit from both your school and/or the scholarship program.
